MATT IRIE: HOUSE PAINTINGS

JANUARY 19 –FEBRUARY 11

Ranging from performance to installation to painting and drawing, Irie's highly conceptual work explores the viewer's perception and interaction with art. This exhibition will focus on his most recent experiments with paint. A former Harper faculty member, Matt currently teaches at McHenry County College.

Special Events: Wednesday, February 3

Slide Lecture: 1:15 – 2 p.m.

Painting Studio, Building C, Room C201

Reception/Discussion with the Artist:

Art Exhibition Space, Building C, Room C200

JASON HACKENWERTH: THE TIDE OF POSEIDON

FEBRUARY 23–MARCH 18

Hackenwerth draws from plant and animal forms to create his large, ephemeral sculptures. Built entirely of balloons, his pieces come to life and then slowly expire, all within the time and space of the exhibition. He is a New York-based artist who has exhibited throughout the United States, Europe and Asia.
